Hayti or Somewhere Eise.

[From the New Orleans Times, June 23.]

For some days past rumors have been current of a flibustering expedition to some unknown country, in which all the unemployed were to find pieuty of work, an earnest of which was a cash payment of $150 in gold.

At first the field of their exertions was said to be Hayti, but Northern Mexico, as the time advanced, was generally concluded upon as the final destination. It was whispered that $2,000,000 had been placed in bank here to the credit of the enterprise, and that within the last three days nine thousand stand of arms have been purchased and paid for.

The rendezvous is said to be Grand Island, and there we hear about four hundred are already congregated.

and that within the last taree days nine thousand stand of arms have been purchased and paid for. The rendezvous is said to be Grand Island, and there we hear about four hundred are already congregated.

It was proposed for the party to embark there unamed for Sagdad, Mexico, and having received their equipments at that place to march on Matamoros, capture the place, and push on to Monterey. It appears that the Collector had received strong intimations of an expedition about to sail from this port for Mexico with the object of revolutionizing that country once again under the leadership of Santa Anna. It was also intimated that this movement had extensive combinations in other ports besides New Orleans, and from these similar expeditions would sail. Deputy Collector Stockdale received positive information yesterday about noon. A vessel, the name of which has not yet been ascertained, had cleared for "Savannah and a market," a customary permit with trading vessels, and this was to take out three bands of men destined for Mexico. A rendezvous of one of those bands was on the corner of Rampart and Esplanade streets, another on St. Philip, near Chartres, and another on Bienville street, upper part. All were to leave yesterday. Mr. Stockdale, in company with Marshal Herron, called on the Chief of Police, who gathered a force of men. Mr. District Attorney Torrey drawing up the necessary process for the occasion. The force, under Lieutenant Manning, proceeded to one of the places designated, corner of Rampart and Esplanade streets. The house was surrounded. Having been invested in this manner the officer entered the house and made the arrest of forty-three persons. Mrs. Carrett, the woman who kept the house, acted like a fury, and made more disturbance than any other. The whole party, with some three or four exceptions, appeared to be rather seedy and as if they had not been employed for some time. The pose proceeded to the other rendezvous, but the birds had now them the season of the party of the present under the p a disposition to any fate.

AMUSEMENTS.

FRENCH THEATRE.-This fashionable resort was but scantily filled last evening, and the adventurous Sage encountered a sore disappointment so far as the attendance was concerned. The title of the drama presented was "Heiene, on Les Deux Adverin three acts. The plot was evidently a hasty preparation of some exploits of the enterpris-ing author in his rambles in the South, and partook out. There was, of course, love, jealousy and a shot; but the effect of these important characteristics was very much marred by the manner in which they appeared to be conveyed. M. Caron, as Bedford, though possessing some ability, was perhaps too impassioned and a little overexertful in the rolling of his eyes. Charles D. found a quiet representative in M. Sage, though in some passages of the eventful spectacle that gentleman might have exhibited a little more earnestness. Mile, Alixe Farnat portrayed Helene gracefully, while Mile, solanger did her part, unimportant as it was, with some judgment. As a drama the production does not possess much merit, and even a clever performance of it would scarcely create the desired effect.

STADT THEATRE.-Mr. E. Eddy and his quite incomparable East side associates said goodby to this theatre last evening. The bill was one of infinite variety, combining that of "Pizarro," "Jack Sheppard" and "Bill Board Grabber," and the occa sion the benefit of Mr. Sam Ryan. To the uncom fortably warm evening is attributable a lonely appearance of the auditorium, quite enough to discourage those upon the stage; yet all did nobly under the circumstances. Mr. Eddy as Rolla, Mrs. D. Myron as Cora and Miss Henrietta Irving as Elvira, in the former play, aroused the appreciation of the audience to that well known pitch of the "house ringing again." In the second play the intorest evinced was fully commensurate with the fun presented. Jack Sheppard appeared with no less than three Jacks and three Blueskins, which almost alarmed by the greatness of the cast the "gods above;" nor did they a moment forget to send volley after volley of applause to those that were deserving. Mr. J. W. Lingard, with a song, appeared as a volunteer as the second Blueskin, and not only ably sustained his reputation but made brighter his record. Miss Millie Sackett and Mrs. D. Myron, as the first and second Jacks, were unquestionably excellent.

Those unsurpassed exponents of Ethiopian minstrelsy, Birch, Wambold, Bernard and Backus, were last night in their happiest veins of humor, and kept the house in an incessant roar of laughter. Many new jokes and new eccentricities were introduced. The audience showed their keen appreciation of the evening's performances and reluctance to receive their parting bow, aithough only temporary, by frequent encores. The company go from here to Boaton, where they will remain some little time, and thence start on a limited travelling tour through the country. A hearty welcome is sure to be given them wherever they go. About the ist of September old friends may expect to see the old faces of their old favorites back to their old place, No. 585 Broadway, which, meantime, in their absence, is to be thoroughly renovated.

TONY PASTOR'S.—The inimitable troupe of this place last evening closed an extremely successful season, and, like their west side brethren will soon hie away to "green fields and pastures sweet" fo ion. The entertainment was as varied as it was attractive, combining songs, dances, acro-batic exercises, groupings, aerial flights and a spar-ring exhibition. The latter was between two veri-table prize fighting champions—Sam Collyer and Dick Holliwood—and worked charmingly, to the great satisfaction of the large audience. The enter-tainment was worthy of the occasion, and obtained the success it merited.

"Under the Gaslight," with the philosophical "Snarkey" and the snorting engine included, is entrancing the "saints" of Sait Lake, with Madame Scheller sustaining the principal female character.

"The Last Ditch" is the last theatrical sensation in Pittaburg. During the play twenty young ladies perform a zonave drill, and it is said that they have succeeded in manœuvring themselves into the affections of the susceptible Pittsburgers. The drill appears to be the only point of interest in the play.

The opera boufe terminated in an opera "buffer" war on Friday last. Mile. Faustine (Berthoft) on that day met the irrepressible Bateman in the Fourteenth street catacombs—called him pet but not endearing names—was arrested by order of the unappreciative Bateman—who was in turn roughly handled for this same obnoxious order against the fair Faustine by Messra. Chappin, Brunet and Ruisse—which wound up with the arrest of the whole party, who were afterwards released on ball. Every person engaged in this memorable struggle is a member of the opéra boufe troupe.

He entreated them to value highly the excellent advantreated them to value highly the excellent advan-tages they enjoyed, and to remember that they were being prepared for positions in life which would enable them to control the destinies of the next generation. After wishing them as happy a future as they themselves desired the Governor resumed his seat and witnesses the concluding exercises of dress parade, fencing and artillery drill with evident satis-faction. In the evening the halls and pariors of the academy were filled with the patrols and friends of the institution, who joined with the cadets and many graduates in the enjoyment of the closing annual hop.

A ROMANTIC APPAIR. - A young man named Harris, he son of a valued citizen of Stapleton, left his reason for so doing, and going no one knew whither. Yesterday morning he suddenly returned, bringing with him a young bride. It appears that after leaving New York he went to Dacotah Territory with a friend who was travelling for a house in this city. While in Dacotah he became acquainted with his wife, who is quite well of, and being a young man of "decent parts and good repute" the lady married him, and he has now returned to live at home in peace and plenty.

DEPARTURE OF RISTORI, LA GRANGE AND

The announcement made in Friday's HERALD that Madame Ristort would yesterday sail for Europe on the steamer Ville de Paris, had the effect yesterday forenoon, previous to the sailing of the steamer, attracting quite an aristocratic gathering of ladies and gentlemen to the landing to bid her farewell.
When the carriage in which the great tragedienne was seated, with her husband, son and daughter, arrived, she was greeted with loud and enthusiastic cheers, and as she passed along the wharf to the steamer she was nded on all sides by an array of outstretched hands, all seeking to be first in the last adieu, that just have been to the fair lady very formidable indeed. She, however, took everything in good part, and after bowing repeatedly in answer to the greetings she succeded in reaching the deck of the steamer amid such a storm of applause and such waving of handkerchiefs and hats from the landing as would have made any person but a woman feel something akin to vanity. Many of her friends, who seemed to be about as numerous as the entire crowd itself, were not contented with simply bidding her good speed from the wharf, but followed her to the deck of the vessel and even to her cabin, where, up to the time the signal was given for non-passengers to go ashore, there was held a sort of impromptu levee, during which more words of cheer and affection were spoken than could have comfortably been put in a small sized volume. It was a strange sight to see beside her host of personal friends so many of our upper tendomites (who, in all probability, had never known her but as the great artiste, they being the audience) taking her by the hand and quite tearfully wishing her all sorts of hap piness. Yet after all it only went to give additional proof of what a really strong hold the great artiste had gained on the affections of the New York public and how effectuatly in her private life among us she had crushed the fallacy so prevalent that a woman cannot be at the same time an actress and an ornament to society. Manager Grau was among those who seemed to vie with one another in expressing their regret at her departure, and while bidding him adteu Ristori thanked him warmly for the courteous manner in which she had always been treated by him during her engagements. In speaking of the universal indness with which she had been received wherever she had appeared professionally in the United States. she alluded to the support and encouragement given her by the press. "I owe the HERALD a debt of gratitude," said she to Mr. Grau, "that I never can repay. To following its counsels in many things much of my success in New York was due It was more than once a guide which I followed in my engagements." The parting came at last and amid a loud huzzaing of the crowds on the wharf the Ville de Paris moved out into the stream, Mme. Ristori and her family continuing to acknowledge the friendly feelings by waving their handkerchief until the steamer had passed out of sight. The steamship was accompanied down the bay and beyond Sandy Hook by the tug P. C. Schultz, on board of which were Manager Grau and a large number of the friends of Mme. Ristori, and of Mme. La Grange and Mile. Tosée who, be it known, had also taken passage on the Ville de Paris. | The little Schultz hauled alongside the steamship when a mile or so beyond the Hook, and again farewells were repeated and handshakings renewed over the bulwarks. As the steamship for the last time prepared to move away Manager Grau handed Mme. Ristori a card on which, among other friendly words, was written, "Au revoir, 1870." waiving her hand to the impressario, exclaimed in Italian, "That will depend upon you, and not me." So we may have Ristori back again, and welcomed. Mme. La Grange and Mile. Tostée, as mentioned above, and Mr. Vincent, stage manager at Niblo's, also sailed in the Ville de Paris. Quite an enthusias tic number of their friends were at the landing and on the Schultz to see them safely started on their voyage. Mme. La Grange, on going on board the steame was very warmly greeted, and Tostee received quite an ovation from a gathering of young gentlemen who formed a sort of guard of honor near the gangplank and deluged her with bouquets as she passed to the vessel's deck, with Bateman doing the honors quite gallantly.

A STRANGE HOMICIDE AT MIAGARA FALLS.

(From the Rochester Union, June 25.)

We have a few particulars of an attempted (successful one, doubtiess,) murder of a colored man named Norris, botween Niagara Palis and Suspension Bridge last night. It seems that Norris' wife some time since eloped with a colored man, whose name we did not learn, to Canada. Norris was naturally indignant and perhaps made some pretty harsh remarks, which were conveyed to the usurper of his wife's affections. This chap then threatened to carry into execution last night. Meeting Norris, who is, and has been for some time, a favorite porter at the International Hetel, he induced him to accompany him down the railiroad track toward Suspension bridge. Selzing a favorable opportunity he struck Norris a blow on the head with a hatchet, as is supposed, inflicting a frightful and probably fatal wound and rendering him insensible. He then dragged the senseless man some distance along the track and placed the body across the rails so that should a train pass before he was discovered it would appear that he had been killed by the cars. A colored man who passed along shortly afterwards discovered Norris and with assistance conveyed him to the International, where he was this morning—his physicians having no hopes of his recovery. He revived at one time sufficient to tell who his assailant was and the manner in which the attack was made. The murderer, we are sorry to say, has escaped to Canada, probably.

ACCIDENT TO BRICKLAYERS.—A terrible accident occurred yesterday in the North Division, which it is feared will be attended with fatal results. On Frankin street the German Catholics are erecting a four story brick building, which is to be called the Alexandrian Hospital, on which a number of bricklayers were at work constructing a heavy comice. This cornice was allowed to project at least a foot beyond the line of the wall, the workmen depending entirely upon the cohesino of the imperfectly cemented mass for holding the great weight. The work gradually progressed until the weight was too great for the cementing power of the mortar, when the entire cornice, extending the whole length of the building, fell with a tremendous crash, carrying with it five of ten men who were engaged upon it a distance of nearly fifty feet. All were more or less injured.—

ABBUCTION OF A YOUNG LADY.—A lady by the name of Parker arrived by the Great Western Railroad to-day in search of a young lady who left home some three weeks ago bound for Chicago, but was induced to lay over here by some unknown parties. By the assistance of friends Mrs. Parker was enabled to trace her charge to two or three houses of ill repute, where she had been secreted, and at last discovered that she had been secreted, and at last discovered that she had been secreted, and at last discovered that she had been sent to Saginaw, to which place Mrs. Parker has gone. The girl belongs to one of the first families of Ontario. Mr. Parker is well known to many at Windsor, and is indebted to many employés of the Great Western Railroad for several marks of kindness shown to her on ber journey, which is hoped may prove a successful one, and the erring one brought back to her anxious parents.—

THE RUM TRADE OF BOSTON.—The bill which has finally passed Congress permitting the exportation of rum for sixty days will at once furnish business for twelve barks lying idle in Boston harbor, and to many mechanics as well as to the crews of our vessels. The importations from the African coast amount to $1,500,000 annually, and this trade was all endangered by the former legislation of Congress.—Boston Journal, June 20.

Not So Chazy After All.—The statement that the skiff Dore, which sailed from Newburyport for Baltimore, was lost was incorrect. She arrived at New York last Thursday without having made a harbor but once, whan she put into Saybrook on account of an accident to her rudder in a northeaster so fierce that the Sonnd steamers did not dare to run. She made during the time a run of eighteen miles in two hours and ten minutes. The young men who went round in her langh at the idea of their having been in any great danger, and are ready to try it again.—Boston Journal, June 23.

THE NATIONAL GUARD.

The excursion of the Seventh regiment to Norwich, Conn., promises to be a most agreeable and success ful affair. The cittzens of that city are active in the preparations for the reception of the regiment and omise to equal, if not excel, in the extent and variety of their hospitatities Boston. Richmond and other large cities which have heretofore been visited by the Seventh. A large public meeting was held in Norwich on Saturday, the 20th inst., at which a committee of one hundred of the leading citizens was appointed to make the mocessary arrangements. This committee at a subsequent meeting appointed the following sub-committees:—General Executive Committee, Committee on Invitation, on Reception, Committee, Committee on Invi tation, on Reception, on Collation, on Promenade Cora 2ert, on Military and Police Arrangements, on Decorat on and on Finance. The Commandant of the regime at has received the following very complimentary cora munication:—

Ciry or Nonw tout, June 24, 1988.

Colonel Emmons Clark, Commanding Seventh regiment, New York city:—

DEAR SIR—In behalf of the offigens of M. wwich, I have the imour to extend to you and to the officers are i men of the galiant Seventh regiment an invitation to visit this city, on the occasion of their annual field day in July, and I Inke pleasure in assuring you that your noble regiment wit I receive from our people a most cordial and hearty welce, me, for we remember with both graitfude and pleasure to the prompt response of the Seventh regiment at the time our national capital was in danger, and also its subsequents services in the field at different times during the continuance of the rebellion. The graitfude we shall always cherish towards our citizen solders we shall be delighted to manifest to particular to the regiment now under your command—a graitment of whose record we are justin proud and in whose feet of protest. citizen soldiers we shall be delighted to manifest a particuto the regiment now under your command—a regiment whose record we are justly proud, and in whose fat the repution for discipline and precision in military swa utions, well as for soldierly bearing and patriotic zeal, we efecinterest in common with the nation at large. In both alf of citizens of Norwich and their Committee of Invitatina 1, I hat the honor to subscribe mean! JAMES LLOYD GREENE, Chesa man.

citizens of Norwich and their Committee of Invitation 1, I have the honor to subscribe myself

JAMES LLOYD GREENE, chas man.

The following members of the Committee in Invitation are now at the St. Nicholas Hota i to arrange the details with the officers of the regra ient, viz:—General J. Lloyd Greene, Jed. Hunting ion, third; E. P. Slocumb and Dr. F. S. Abbott. It is understood that the arrangements, as far ascomplea idare mutually satisfactory, and are substantially as follows:—The Seventh regiment will leave New York is by the steamer City of Lawrence on Thursdiap July 9, at half-past seven P. M. This steamer has been chartered by the regiment for its exclusive use, and is one of the safest and most commodious boats affoat. Arriving at Norwich about seven A. M. the regiment will be formally received by the city authorities, the Gitizens' Committee and the military companies at nine A. M. At ten o'clock it will march through the principal streets to the "Great Plains," where it will be reviewed by the Governor of the State. At one o'clock the regiment will be entertained by the Citizens' Committee with a collation, and at five P. M., after a dress parade, it will march back to the steamer and deposit the arms. In the evening there is to be a grand promenade concert and hop, and at tweive o'clock (midnight) the regiment will leave Norwich for New York, arriving here at about seven o'clock on Saturday morning, it is probable that the regiment on this occasion will number about six hundred men. This is the first pleasure excursion of the regiment since it visited Washington in 1830 by invitation, of Congress, to attend the inauguration of Clarke Mills' statue of Washington. Of course it excites an unusual interest among the members, none of whom seem to desire to be reported absent.

The following order will explain itself:—

THE ENCAMPMENT OF THE TWENTY-SECOND REGI-MENT.

The subject of the regimental encampment at Long Branch, in August next, is the exciting topic at present in the Twenty-second regiment, and the scheme grows in favor every day among both officers and men. Committees are actively at work completing the arrangments, and every preparation is being made to make the trip a most enjoyable one to those participating. The hop with which it is proposed to close the encampment promises to surpass anything that has been given in a military way during the past season, as all the leading military men of New York and New Jersey, as well as the crowd of fashionable people who will be at Long Branch during the encampment, will be present.

As the object of the encampment is exclusively for rifle practice, and as the period of the encampment is to be a very short one, there will be little if any drilling stempted beyond the usual dress parade and guard mounting, it being almost impossible for men to learn to shoot correctly after being marched about in the hot sun. However, as much of the time as possible will be devoted to systematic, instruction in the principles of markmanship and she aiming drill according to the English or Hythe system. It is understood that one or more of the companies have already commenced this drill with the view of getting the inside track for the company, prize.

There is now on exhibition in a weil known Broad way jewelry establishment the design for a medal, now almost completed, which is to be contended, for as a prize by the First division National Guard at/the annual Schuettenfest now taking place in this cay, the medal, of exceedingly appropriate design, is to be of eighteen carat gold, and represents a target in enamel, entwined by a wreath of laurel and eak. Above this an eagle, supported by a glory, streat hes his outspread wings; while behind, on either side, appears the national flag, with groups of arms, &c. The medal is, we hear, to cost between $200 and $200.

The Ninety-sixth regiment will parade, fully uniformed and equipped, to-morrow, the 28th 'us st., as an honorary escort to the procession of the Ns. tional Association of American Sharpshooters. Bell call of companies at seven o'clock in the morning, at the regimental armory. Line will be formed, en Bond street half an hour afterwards.

MERTING OF THE RESIDENTS AND PROPERTY HOLD RRS OF MOUNT VERNON.—A special meeting of resi-dent property owners of Mount Vernon was held at Washington Hall, in the village, on Friday evening, for the purpose of voting for or against sundry appropriations recommended by the Board of Trustees. About two hundred persons, were present, of whom one-fourth appeared to be "well up" and ready for anything. Mr. W. H. Pemberton was called to the chair, and after submitting the proposition to appropriate $3,000 for highway purposes it was lost. Those in favor of the measure suspecting that many persons who were not entitled to vote on the question had done so, appealed from the decision of the chair and called for a ballot on that poins. The chair was sustained by a vote of 73 years to 45 mays. A motion was then made and seconded to appropriate $2,000 for highway purposes, but such was the state of confusion which prevailed among those opposed to appriations, who, with hair a dozen exceptions, perhaps, were natives of the Emeraid Island, that the teliers were unable to count them; and on motion the meeting was adjourned until Friday evening next. Washington Hall, in the village, on Friday evening.

and lour o'clock yesterday afternoon Mrs. Elizabeth Kilinger, residing at 216 avenue A, was using kerosene oil on a bedstead killing bed-buga. At the time she had a lighted capille in her hand. The light set fire to the oil in the ca'u and an explosion took place, setting her dress on fire. She was very fearfully burned on hands, arm, and face. The damage done to the house and furnit, tre is about $100. The fire was put out by the police.

THE SCENTIFIC CONVENTION AT CHICAGO.

The arrangements for the reception of the American Association for the Advancement of Science at Chicago in August were partly made at a meeting of the Local Committee on Wednesday. The Local Committee on Wednesday. The Local Committee is as follows:—J. Y. Scammon, Chair man; Dr. William Stimpson, Secretary; Professor Edmund Andrews, David Gage, Colonel J. F. Beatty, Dr. Walter Hay, Professor J. V. Z. Blandy, E. B. McCagg, E. W. Blatchford, Dr. John H. Rauch, Leutenant Governor William Bross, J. B. Rice, E. S. Cheesebrough, Professor T. H. Safford, Colonel Edward Daniels, E. H. Sheldon, W. E. Doggett, Daniel Thompson, Colonel J. W. Foster, George C. Walker, Dr. John M. Woodworth. Mr. Walker reported that he had written to several gentlemen in Buffalo, requesting them to co-operate with Captain E. P. Dorr in securing a stemmer for the transportation of the Eastern delegation to Chicago by way of the lakes. The Secretary reported that he had issued copies of the circulary reported that he had issued copies of the circular of the Local Committee to all scientific men in a orth America whose addresses he could obtain and to a large number in Europe. The Secretary moved that during the week of the convention a daily programme or news sheet be issued, containing local or oth, T information of value to the members, the orter of extercises for the day, the meetings to be held and list of papers to be read at them, the addresses to be deliva red, the excursions or entertainments for the day, it at of arrivals of members and their stopping places, the arrivals and departures of rallway trains, &c. TA e motion was seconded and carried. Mr. Chesbroa igh, chairman of the Sub-Committee on Railroad 4, reported that many railroad companies throughea it the United States and Canads had agreed to take members of the association to and from Chica go at half fare, and he had good reason to hope that tall would extend the same courtesy.

AT THE MA RGUE. - There was yesterday taken to the Morgue from Bellevue Hospital the body of an unknown man, a f about five feet and eight inches in height. His by it is dark, and there is board about the upper part of the scale. Deceased was apparantly about thirty years of a go. His body had on gray vest and trowsers, but et annel shirt and boots. The man was conveyed from 'Tenth avenue, near Seventy-ninth street, in an insa usible condition, and died shortly subsequent to his admission to the hospital. The body is on the table's for identification.

AN INGENIOUS N'AUTICAL DEVICE THWASTED.—A week ago or so the arew of a whaling vessel was put on board at night in the harbor, preparatory to sailing early in the mortaling. As is quite common, the men wanted to go ashore and have a sprec, which which the shipkeeper would not allow, knowing that it would consume a good deat of time to find thom in the morning. They begged him for the privilege of one of the boats unavaillingly for some time. As length they became quiet, but soon the cry of "Man overboard!" was raised, and, sure enough, one of them was in the water close under the bows, putting and blowing and bellowing for help. Then of course a boat must be lowered; so the crew thought. But the old shipkeeper was not a bird to be caught with chaff. Notwithstanding the earnest remonstrances of the men, he refused to lower a boat, and went forward to examine into the condition of things. The men saw that the prospect of going ashore was vanishing and redoubled their protestations against ornelly allowing a man to drown. But the shipkeeper soon found that the fellow was in no danger, having the thimself down by a rope suspended for the purpose, and raised the alarm as a means of getting possession of a boat, which the crew thought would be sure to be lowered for his rescue. So the fellow ducked himself for nothing, and, paradoxically, was assiry as ever.—Now Bedford Standard.

How a Brakeman's Lipr was Saved and Arbother's Lost.—The life of a brakeman named Atbert Wright, on the Rome, Watertown and Oswego Raliroad, was saved by a curious circumstance the other day. Wright was formerly a soldier and while in the service was bucked and gagged by an officer for some alleged offence. He then swore that the would be revenged if he ever met his oppressor. Last Monday the officer happened to be a passa inger on the train, and at one of the stations stepped upon the platform. Wright saw him and immed lately "sailed in" and administered to his former superior a tremendous flogging. The brakeman was are ested, and during his temporary retirement another man who took his place on the train was kflied by a collision.

ALLEGED ELOPEMENT.—A lady residing in I conda, the wife of a well known hotel proprietor, r eached Albany yesterday morning on the express I rain of the Central road in search of her husband, who om she alleged had eloped with a young and prepos sessing girl of the village. She searched all the bay gage at the depot in hopes of getting a clue to the ru maways, but to no purpose. She intends to continue the search—Troy Times, June 22.
